OFFICE OF EXTENSION WORK IN THE SOUTH

STATES RELATIONS SERVICE

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Compiled by Claudia B. Stribling

Vol. 1.

No. 19

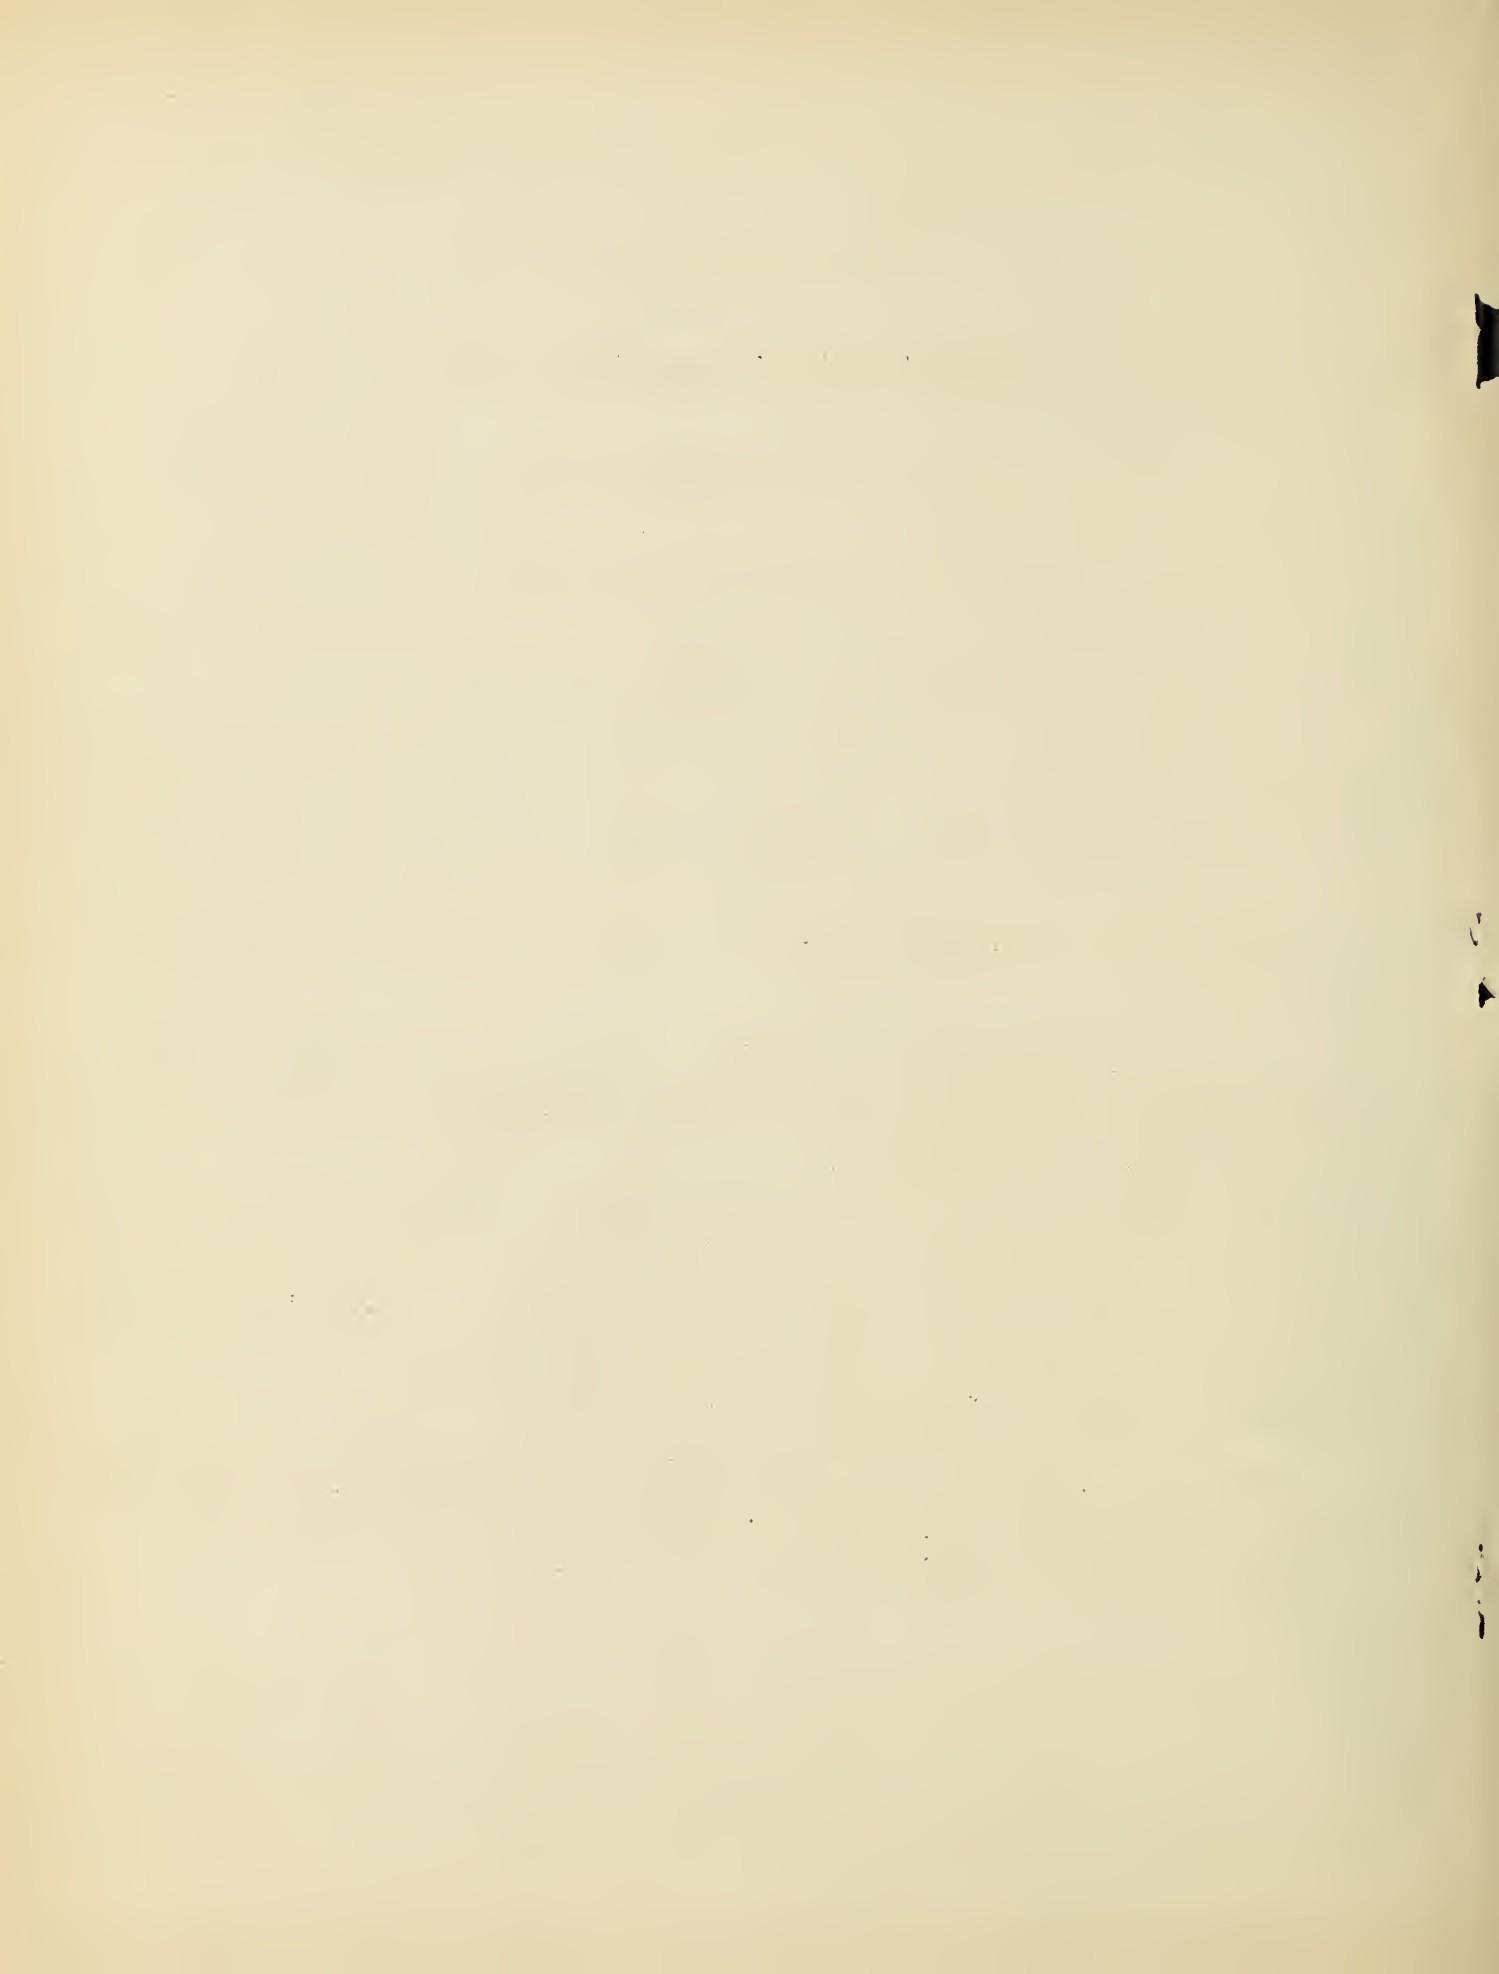

August 6, 1919.

Professor O. B. Martin was quoted by William Harper Dean in January, 1916 as stating that "The Home Demonstration Work has been the means of bringing together people who had been separated by community jealousies and feuds. It has shown public spirited business men and women how to stimulate self-help. That certainly is the wisest form of philanthropy."

"It is not difficult to see the ultimate object and aim of the work which is now being done by the four hundred women county agents in the Southern States. Doubtless everyone has an ideal in her mind of the home healthful, the home efficient, the home beautiful. These ladies are now being called upon for advice in home equipment and home building. It is a matter of a very short while until they will be called upon for advice in everything that tends to make a comfortable and artistic home, just as the men county agents are called upon in all problems pertaining to the business of the farm itself."

The stamp of "First Aid" is placed on the established fact of this predicted truth in August, 1919, when Professor Martin shows conclusively that the "four hundred have become more than a thousand women agents all working effectively along the very lines indicated."

doen. Deze voorstellingen zijn niet alleen van belang voor de historische ontwikkeling van de politieke en sociale gedachte, maar ook voor de geschiedenis van de politieke en sociale praktijk.

III. CONCLUSIE

Deze studie heeft een aantal belangrijke resultaten gegeven. In het eerste deel is de historische ontwikkeling van de politieke en sociale gedachte in de Nederlandse geschiedenis beschreven. Hierin is te zien dat de gedachte van de volkspolitiek en de sociale politiek al vroeg ontstaan is en dat deze gedachte zich over de eeuwen heen ontwikkeld heeft. De gedachte van de volkspolitiek is vooral een gedachte van de arbeidersbeweging, terwijl de gedachte van de sociale politiek meer een gedachte van de bourgeoisie is.
